Abstract - Due to an earthquake life, financial, mental losses and other bad effect are growing. In some condition there is increase in losses due to absence or improper severability of lifeline structure after disaster. So serviceability of lifeline structure (mostly hospital and bridges) after earthquake is more important in earthquake prone zone. Conventional earthquake resistant design will increase strength and ductility but structure will not be serviceable after major earthquake. So, there is a need to find additional way to protect lifeline structure. In this state of art, vibration control of a structure with help of varies new age dampers are discussed. This paper provides classification of control system, basic principle, construction, working, application and placing of Viscous fluid (VFD) and Magneto-rheological dampers (MR).

Keywords- Earthquake, vibration control, Seismic control systems, viscous fluid dampers, MR damper.

I. INTRODUCTION

From past few decades, the world has experienced number of destroying earthquakes. During earthquake, number of people losses their life, house and financial sources due to collapse and severe losses in structure. But some people save their life due to the situation but they suffering from highly serious injuries, mental attack, respiratory problem and inflectional diseases and need immediate primary medical treatment. So, serviceability of lifeline structure is important at that time. As per conventional method of designing, under minor but frequent shaking, the main members of the buildings that carry vertical and horizontal forces should not be damaged; however buildings parts that do not carry load may sustain repairable damage. Under moderate but occasional shaking, the main members may sustain repairable damage, while the other parts that do not carry load may sustain repairable damage. Under strong but rare shaking, the main members may sustain severe damage, but the building should not collapse (IS 1893:2016). Hence, as per above philosophy, after major earthquake, building does not serve the purpose. This aftermath damages in Health facilities lead to increase in dead/ injured ratio as shown in Table no.1

TABLE I COMPARATIVE DATA RELEVANT TO MAJOR EARTHQUAKES OF THE PAST DECADE (Motamedi et. al., 2002).

Place	Date	Local magnitude (Richters)	Ratio of casualties: dead/ injured (%)	City Damage, %	Health facilities damage, %
Iran (Bam)	2003 Dec	6.6	26,271/51,500: (51)	85	90
Haiti (Portau- Prince)	2010 Jan	7.2	212,000/512,000: (42)	90	22
Peru (Ica)	2007 Aug	7.9	514/1,604: (32)	Most of the city	60
China (Sichuan)	2008 May	8.0	69,170/443,329: (15)	80	N/A
Pakistan (Kashmir)	2005 Oct	7.6	73,276/ 153,276:(47)	60	90

So serviceability of lifeline structures is most important in earthquake affected area. Safety and serviceability improved by reducing vibration levels of structures due to unexpected lateral seismic loads. For that, providing new concepts of design of structures against seismic loading is necessary. So that, now a day's various types of vibration control systems are used in the structure which broadly divided in to active, passive, hybrid and semi active vibration control devises. In this state of art, vibration control of a structure with help of varies new age dampers are discussed. This paper provides classification of control system, basic principle, construction, working, application and placing of viscous and magneto-rheological dampers.

ABSTRACT—To verify the food quality it needs a major step as a directly affects health. For satisfaction of a customer, it is very important to have good quality of food. But the task is very difficult to test the good quality of food. In this system, automatic system is proposed for detecting different shapes, size, colour and texture for Tomato quality and grading. Proposes that an overview for grading of food by shape, size, colour and texture, which can help the product to market. Different types of algorithms are available to extract features of food character by capturing the first image. This work aimed to study different types of algorithms used for quality grading and sorting of food from the image image. In previous years several types of techniques are applied to extract the good quality food. In this paper, will find quality and grading of food using computer.

1. INTRODUCTION

In general, the harvesting process is done or that such as tomatoes before they fully ripen. Besides the quality of tomato for shape, size, colour and texture grading by human operators tends to vary due to visual errors in one situation. A vision machine to reduce human error can solve this problem, since a machine will not get tired or stressed. Human vision has limited ability to differentiate can be done (over-ripe green) (over-ripe green) with orange (50% ripeness), light and (50-80% red) with red color (70-90%). There are various methods shape, size, colour and texture is subjective and not measuring different people. A color that may appear as light green for first harvest but over-ripe for second harvest. This leads to inconsistency of the program for ripeness maturity. Color grading is a critical step in the ripeness degree for processing of tomatoes directly without pests, because the product quality is mainly associated with their taste. The existing or a growing tomato has a lot of other ripening parameters to determine whether color grading. In this Project (2021), but, 80% change color from green to fully ripeness and only 20% (Green + 80% Green + 80% Green) some tomatoes is present and ready to harvest. The proposed automatic classification and grading system is designed to combine this processes such as Image Acquisition, Modeling, Correction, Image Enhancement, Color Detection. The entire system is designed over MATLAB R2019b software to capture the shape, size, colour and texture of the food. These grading can be compared here for size, leaf, shape, Green, ripening to Green, work in the paper revolution program at fruits having different shape, size, colour and texture for finding quality and grading. In this paper, will find quality and grading of food using computer.

II. LITERATURE SURVEY

Various fruits, vegetables and flowers (V) proposed image processing for color finding detection of diseases and their grading, artificial neural network is used developed algorithms and they can be successfully used and accuracy between diseases and get correct result for area and percentage they reported 90 % result in comparison to human. And also he developed image grading system depending on weight using mathematical formula weight of a crop and disease clearly in 3 different grades. In this study by M.A. Shamsa, B. (2017) proposed effective automatic grading system of apple based on SVM Classifier. The dataset contains 90 images. The polynomial method efficiency

Abstract— Highway bridges play a vital link role in surface transportation network, and their failures not only cause disruption of service but also danger people life. Seismic base isolation is an important technique that is used for reduce the seismic vulnerability by decreasing the seismic demand instead of increasing the seismic capacity. Present work deals with study of response of bridge using seismic control systems. For present study, a two-span prestressed concrete box girder highway bridge is considered and analyzed for seismic forces using SAP2000 software. The seismic response and behavior of Box Girder Bridge is studied by linear time history analysis using Newmark's beta method. For the analysis four different ground motion data selected and scaled for target spectra as per zone IV. The highway bridge is isolated with Lead Rubber Bearing (LRB). The response of bridge system under earthquakes has been compared with the corresponding bridge with and without the isolation system. It is observed that LRB is highly effective for controlling not only the seismic response of the bridge but also include the structural response on the cost of slight increase in the displacement of the deck.

Key Words— skewed Highway Bridge; lead rubber bearing; time history analysis

INTRODUCTION

Bridges are widely present in today's built environment, carrying highways through cities and Countries and serving as the transportation lifeline of modern civilization. It provokes many benefits for the people and especially, promotes inter-regional trades and reduces traffic crowding and emergency movement. Past year have seen number of calamitous failures of Highway Bridge due to strong earthquake ground motions such as Northridge earthquake 1994, Kobe earthquake 1995 and chi-chi earthquake 1999 [Panchal and Jangid, 2008]. Due to seismic damage in the bridge tends to stop the transportation system and it harms economy ruinously. Seismic isolation appeared as one of the important techniques to protect the structures like buildings, bridges etc., from the destructive effects of earthquakes. Basically, the main purpose of base isolation system is to decouple the structure from the seismic ground motion which results in reducing the structural damages. Seismic isolation techniques minimized the seismic responses on the highway bridge by increasing the fundamental period of the bridge and increased energy dissipating capability [Kunde and Jangid, 2006].

In the past numerous research and studies were carried out for investigating the effectiveness of seismic isolation devices for seismic resistant design of bridges. Panchal and Jangid (2008) conducted a numerical studied of bridge isolated by the variable curvature friction pendulum system (VCFPS) and found that under near fault ground motion, the VCFPS is quite effective in controlling the seismic response of bridge within desirable range. Chavan and Mrunal (2015) investigated the effect of seismic isolation on the seismic response of bridge components. In their study, first existing bridge with Elastomeric bridge bearing is modeled

Performance Analysis of Solar based Induction Motor for Water Pumping System

S. Trehan, 2019, P. 020, S. Dastgheibi - Published 3 August 2019 - Engineering

Performance analysis of solar photovoltaic array fed single phase induction motor (IM) drive for water pumping system. In the proposed method, the output DC power of the solar PV array is stored in battery and the stored DC energy is directly fed as input to the inverter and output of the inverter is fed to the single phase induction motor for water pumping system. A centrifugal pump connected with the single phase induction motor for water pumping system. The size of PV array and motor rating selected such that the water can also be pumped during the varying in temperature and irradiation level. This study evaluates the performance parameters namely current, speed, temperature and vibrations. The GUI is developed to control the action of motor and monitor the above mentioned parameters values through appropriate sensors and microcontroller. The speed control through microcontroller by varying the pulse ON duration is studied as well as the effect of speed on vibrations is also observed. The critical experimentation is carried out to analyze the above said parameters and examines the effectiveness the single phase induction motor for solar PV based water pumping system. Collapse

DIABETIC RETINOPATHY INFECTION DETECTION & CLASSIFICATION USING ADVANCE GENETIC ALGORITHM

S. S. Chaturvedi, M. V. Thakur, Anurag

1. INTRODUCTION

Diabetes Mellitus is a chronic of the disease leading from the illness of diabetes in the vascular disease. It is the leading cause of blindness in those of age between 20 & 65. There are 3 types of diabetes mellitus.

1.1 Insulin Dependent Diabetes Mellitus

Diabetes mellitus is a chronic disease in people who have been diabetic for a long time. The patient's pancreas cannot produce enough insulin to control blood sugar levels.

1.2 Diabetes Mellitus

Diabetes mellitus may be caused from the pancreas blood results in a lack of insulin. The excess glucose in the blood causes eye damage that can lead to blindness.

1.3 Prediabetic Diabetes Mellitus

The blood sugar levels are elevated, leading to the formation of new vessels which are abnormal and fragile. This can lead to leakage of fluid from the vessels, leading to the formation of a new blood vessel. This can lead to the formation of a new blood vessel, leading to the formation of a new blood vessel.

Types of Diabetes Treatment

A. Type 1 Diabetes

In the case of diabetes mellitus, there is a lack of insulin in the blood. This can lead to the formation of a new blood vessel, leading to the formation of a new blood vessel.

B. Type 2 Diabetes

Type 2 diabetes is a chronic disease in people who have been diabetic for a long time. The patient's pancreas cannot produce enough insulin to control blood sugar levels.

A Novel Approach For Content Based Image Retrieval by using Histogram

Prof. Manish Mishra¹, Pooja Biswas², Anshu Karki³, Kunal Wankhade⁴, Anil Mishra⁵

¹Department of Electronics & Telecommunication Engineering, Pimpri Chinchwad Education Trust, Pimpri, Maharashtra, India

Abstract - In the world of digital image processing, there are many applications. Content based image retrieval is one of them. It is used to retrieve images from a large database. In this paper, a novel approach for content based image retrieval is proposed. The approach is based on the use of histogram. The histogram is used to represent the color information of the image. The histogram is used to compare the images. The images are retrieved based on the similarity of their histograms. The proposed approach is compared with the existing approaches. The results show that the proposed approach is better than the existing approaches.

Keywords - Content based image retrieval, histogram, image retrieval, image processing.

1. INTRODUCTION

The growing volume and variety of digital images has led to the need for efficient methods for storing, searching, processing and accessing them. The large volume of images and associated metadata has made it difficult to search and retrieve images. The proposed approach is based on the use of histogram. The histogram is used to represent the color information of the image. The histogram is used to compare the images. The images are retrieved based on the similarity of their histograms.

The figure shows the result of image retrieval using the proposed approach. The images are retrieved based on the similarity of their histograms. The proposed approach is better than the existing approaches.

Fig. 1. Retrieved images based on image

Content based image retrieval (CBIR) is a technique of finding images similar to a query image. It is used to retrieve images from a large database. The proposed approach is based on the use of histogram. The histogram is used to represent the color information of the image. The histogram is used to compare the images. The images are retrieved based on the similarity of their histograms.

ABSTRACT The term persistence of vision has come to be used as a technique to fully describe our very complex physiological reality. It remains a standard explanation and, as such, it serves as a useful metaphor. In effect, the persistence of vision plays a role in keeping the world from going black every time that our eyes. Whenever light strikes the retina, the brain retains the impression of that light for about a 1/16th of a 1/16th of a second (depending on the brightness of the image, retinal field of view, and color) after the source of that light is removed from sight. This is also a prolonged chemical reaction. As a result, the eye cannot clearly distinguish changes in light that occur faster than this retention period. The changes either go unnoticed or they appear to be one continuous picture to the human observer.

Keywords persistence of vision, metaphor, optical illusion, illusion

1. INTRODUCTION

Persistence of vision refers to the optical illusion whereby multiple discrete images blend into a single image in the human mind. Our eyes after use of the five specialized senses by which we tried to see to form a picture of the world. The eye is a remarkable instrument, having certain characteristics to help us process the light we see in such a way that our mind can create meaning from it. Take the camera picture, the meaning of an Abstract: Now a day's innovations in production of mobile computers and smart phones, sensors and other wireless or internet enabled devices provide greatly improved capabilities for monitoring and deployment of sensor systems and applications in the field of Smart Cities. Some typical applications including garbage monitoring, Disaster relief, fire alarm, water supply monitoring, smart light monitoring, water pollution monitoring, air quality monitoring, air pollution monitoring, etc. are covered under the implementation of smart Sustainable systems and infrastructure for smart cities by the IOT.

Index Terms: sensors, Smart Cities, Internet of Things

1. INTRODUCTION

Internet of Things can be defined as an interconnected network capable of allowing the ability to exchange data over wireless network involving human-to-human or human-to-computer interaction. It is also various kinds of connectivity such devices, systems, and services that work within machine-to-machine, machine-to-human and human-to-machine, devices and protocols. Nowadays, there have many applications of IOT devices, for instance, garbage monitoring, disaster relief, fire alarm, water supply monitoring, smart light monitoring, air pollution monitoring, etc. are covered under the implementation of smart Sustainable systems and infrastructure for smart cities by the IOT.

1. RELATED WORK

Swagat Prasad et al. [1] proposed using clouded for smart cities. Various smart cities different nations are using the cloud to store historical data for development. Smart cities, China government is leading the development of the IOT. Following the Chinese 12th Five-Year Plan for IOT development, China has accomplished a number of demonstration application projects such as the smart city and the intelligent transportation system in public life applications, smart power grid, smart and the IOT in security applications.

Swagat Prasad et al. [2] deals with the design and implementation of smart sustainable systems using Raspberry pi and IOT sensor for smart cities. It focuses on the usage of machine learning to provide smart cities for smart homes and other smart applications. The problem here mainly system operation, network and hardware in use a IOT devices to a smart power supply with application, monitoring of sensors and control devices distance and system control for smart lighting and surveillance, internet and video and record it for Raspberry pi on the cloud for smart cities. The Raspberry pi devices along the course of the project involves monitoring and controlling via the IOT. The Web Application that enables all the mobile devices monitor and control via the IOT in a smart city will be operated by the Raspberry Pi hardware and components.

Aditya Singh et al. [3] helps in substantially monitor the supply of water from the water distribution system, which helps in the smart city water monitoring. It will help the network of IOT in data collection and in smart city power supply with connected devices.

SOLVED CASES ON SALE OF GOODS ACT-1930

Question 1

For the purpose of making uniform for the employees, Dinanath bought dark blue coloured cloth from Amit, but did not disclose to the seller the purpose of said purchase. When uniforms were prepared and used by the employees, the cloth was found unfit. However, there was evidence that the cloth was fit for caps, boots and carriage lining. Advise Dinanath whether he is entitled to have any remedy under the sale of Goods Act, 1930?

Answer

Fitness of Cloth

As per the provision of Section 16(1) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, an implied condition in a contract of sale that an article is fit for a particular purpose only arises when the purpose for which the goods are supplied is known to the seller, the buyer relied on the seller's skills or judgement and seller deals in the goods in his usual course of business. In this case, the cloth supplied is capable of being applied to a variety of purposes; the buyer should have told the seller the specific purpose for which he required the goods. But he did not do so. Therefore, the implied condition as to the fitness for the purpose does not apply. Hence, the buyer will not succeed in getting any remedy from the seller under the Sale of Goods Act.

Question 2

Suraj sold his car to Sohan for Rs. 75,000. After inspection and satisfaction, Sohan paid Rs. 25,000 and took possession of the car and promised to pay the remaining amount within a month. Later on Sohan refuses to give the remaining amount on the ground that the car was not in a good condition. Advise Suraj as to what remedy is available to him against Sohan.

Answer

As per the section 55 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 an unpaid seller has a right to institute a suit for price against the buyer personally. The said Section lays down that

- (i) Where under a contract of sale the property in the goods has passed to buyer and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay for the goods, the seller may sue him for the price of the goods [Section 55(1)].

- (ii) Where under a contract of sale the price is payable on a certain day irrespective of delivery and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay such price, the seller may sue him for the price. It makes no difference even if the property in the goods has not passed and the goods have not been appropriated to the contract [Section 55(2)].

This problem is based on above provisions. Hence, Suraj will succeed against Sohan for recovery of the remaining amount. Apart from this Suraj is also entitled to:-

- (1) Interest on the remaining amount
- (2) Interest during the pendency of the suit.
- (3) Costs of the proceedings.

Question 3

With a view to boost the sales Hanuman Automobiles sells a motorcar to Mr. A on trial basis for a period of three days with a condition that if Mr. A is not satisfied with the performance of the car, he can return back the car. However, the car was destroyed in a fire accident at the place of Mr. A before the expiry of three days. Decide whether Mr. A is liable for the loss suffered.

Answer

The problem as asked in the question is based on the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 as contained in Section 8. Accordingly, the contract becomes void if the goods are destroyed or do not answer to the description in the agreement before the risk passes on to the buyer. In the given case that the subject matter of the contract i.e Motorcar was destroyed before the transfer of property from the seller to the buyer. Thus the risk passes only when the ownership is transferred to the buyer. Therefore, in the present case Mr. A is not liable for the loss suffered due to the fire accident over which A has no control. Thus M/s. Hanuman Automobiles will have to bear whatever loss that has taken place due to the fire accident.

Question 4

J the owner of a Fiat car wants to sell his car. For this purpose he hand over the car to P, a mercantile agent for sale at a price not less than Rs. 50, 000. The agent sells the car for Rs. 40,000 to A, who buys the car in good faith and without notice of any fraud's misappropriated the money also. J sues A to recover the Car. Decide given reasons whether J would succeed.

Answer

The problem in this case is based on the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 contained in the provision to Section 27. The provision provides that a mercantile agent is one who in the customary course of his business, has, as such agent, authority either to sell goods, or to consign goods, for the purpose of sale, or to buy goods, or to raise money on the security of goods [Section 2(9)]. The buyer of goods form a mercantile agent, who has no authority from the principal to sell, gets a good title to the goods if the following conditions are satisfied:

- (1) The agent should be in possession of the goods or documents of title to the goods with the consent of the owner.

- (2) The agent should sell the goods while acting in the ordinary course of business of a mercantile agent.
- (3) The buyer should act in good faith.
- (4) The buyer should not have at the time of the contract of sale notice that the agent has no authority to sell.

In the instant case, P, the agent, was in the possession of the car with J's consent for the purpose of sale. A, the buyer, therefore obtained a good title to the car. Hence, J in this case, cannot recover the car from A.

Question 5

Aman contracts to sell Jai, by showing sample, certain quantity of rape-seed oil described as 'foreign refined rape-seed-oil'. The oil when delivered matches with the sample, but is not foreign refined rape-seed oil. Referring to the provisions of Sale of Goods Act, 1930 advise the remedy, if any, available to Jai.

Answer

Jai has a remedy to repudiate the contract. According to section 15 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, when the goods are sold by sample as well as by description, there shall be an implied condition that the goods shall correspond to the sample as well as description. In this case, Aman supplied refined rape oil which did correspond with the sample but was not correspond to the description of foreign refined rape-oil. Hence the Jai has the right to repudiate the contract.

Question 6

Aadarsh, an agent of a buyer, had obtained goods from the Railway organization and loaded the goods on his truck. In the meantime, the Railway organization received a notice from B, a seller, for stopping goods in transit as the buyer had become insolvent. Referring to the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 decide whether the Railway organization can stop the goods in transit, as instructed by the seller?

Answer

The right of stoppage of goods in transit can be exercised only so long as the goods are in the course of transit. In the given case the transit was at an end as soon as the agent of the buyer obtained goods from the Railway Organisation. Therefore Railway Organisation cannot act as instructed by the seller, who has lost the right of stoppage of the goods in transit as provided in Section 30 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930.

Question 7

Mr. Amit was shopping in a self-service Super market. He picked up a bottle of cold drink from a shelf. While he was examining the bottle, it exploded in his hand and injured him. He files a suit for damages against the owner of the market on the ground of breach of condition. Decide, under the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, whether Mr. Amit would succeed in his claim?

Answer: Essentials of Sale

The problem as given in the question is based on Section 16(2) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, which states that where goods are bought by description from a seller who deals in goods of that description (whether he is the manufacturer or producer or not), there is an implied condition that the goods shall be of merchantable quality. Though the term 'merchantable quality' is not defined in the Act, it means that in the present case, the bottle must be properly sealed. In other words, if the goods are purchased for self-use, they should be reasonably fit for the purpose for which it is being used. In the instant case, on an examination of the bottle of cold drink, it exploded and injured the buyer. Applying the provision of Section 16(2), Mr. Amit would succeed in claim for damages from the owner of the shop.

Question 8

Mr. S agreed to purchase 100 bales of cotton from V, out of his large stock and sent his men to take delivery of the goods. They could pack only 60 bales. Later on, there was an accidental fire and the entire stock was destroyed including 60 bales that were already packed. Referring to the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 explain as to who will bear the loss and to what extent?

Answer

Section 26 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 provides that unless otherwise agreed, the goods remain at the seller's risk until the property therein is transferred to the buyer, but when the property therein is transferred to the buyer, the goods are at buyer's risk whether delivery has been made or not. Further Section 18 read with Section 23 of the Act provide that in a contract for the sale of unascertained goods, no property in the goods is transferred to the buyer, unless and until the goods are ascertained and where there is contract for the sale of unascertained or future goods by description, and goods of that description and in a deliverable state are unconditionally appropriated to the contract, either by the seller with the assent of the buyer or by the buyer with the assent of the seller, the property in the goods thereupon passes to the buyer. Such assent may be express or implied. Applying the aforesaid law to the facts of the case in hand, it is clear that Mr. S has the right to select the good out of the bulk and he has sent his men for same purpose.

Hence the problem can be answered based on the following two assumptions and the answer will vary accordingly.

Where the bales have been selected with the consent of the buyer's representatives:

(i) In this case the property in the 60 bales has been transferred to the buyer and goods have been appropriated to the contract. Thus loss arising due to fire in case of 60 bales would be borne by Mr. S. As regards 40 bales, the loss would be borne by Mr. V, since the goods have not been identified and appropriated.

(ii) Where the bales have not been selected with the consent of buyer's representatives:

In this case the property in the goods has not been transferred at all and hence the loss of 100 bales would be borne by Mr. V completely.

Question 9

Aman contracted to erect machinery on Sapan's premises on the condition that the price shall be paid on completion of work. During the progress of work the premises and machinery were destroyed by an accidental fire. Referring to the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, decide whether the parties are bound to perform their promises and can Aman recover the price of the work actually done?

Answer

Section 8 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 states that where there is an agreement to sell specific goods and subsequently the goods without the fault of seller or buyer perish before the risk passes to the buyer, the agreement becomes void. In the given case the premises and machinery get destroyed because of accidental fire before the risk passes to the buyer and therefore both parties were excused from further performance. Aman having contracted for an entire work for a specific price to be paid on completion of work, could not recover any price for the work actually done.

The question is on the specific point ie. risk passes on to the buyer with ownership and more specifically based on the Sale of Goods Act, 1930. Yet, the question might be answered in accordance with Section 56 of the Indian Contract, 1872 which states that an agreement to do an impossible act in itself is void. A contract to do an act which, after the contract is made, becomes impossible, or by reason of some event which the promisor could not prevent, unlawful, becomes void when the act becomes impossible or unlawful.

Question 10

A, B and C were joint owners of a truck and possession of the said truck was with B. X purchased the truck from B without knowing that A and C were also owners of the truck. Decide in the light of provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, whether the sale between B and X is valid or not ?

Answer

Sale by joint owner

This problem is based on Section 28 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 which lays down an exception to the general rule that a person cannot transfer a better title than that he himself possesses. A person who is one of joint owners may transfer a better title that he possesses. Section 28 provides that – “if one of several joint owners of goods has the sole possession of them by permission of the co-owners, the property in goods is transferred to any person who buys them of such joint owner in good faith and has not at the time of the contract of sale notice that the seller has not authority to sell”.

The given problem fulfills all such requirements. A, B and C are joint owners of a truck. B had sole possession of it. In such a case if X has purchased the truck from B in good faith without notice at the time of sale that B had no authority to sell, then X acquires good title and becomes full owner although B was not the full owner.

Question 11

Ram sells 200 bales of cloth to Shyam and sends 100 bales by lorry and 100 bales by Railway. Shyam receives delivery of 100 bales sent by lorry, but before he receives the delivery of the bales sent by railway, he becomes bankrupt. Ram being still unpaid, stops the goods in transit. The official receiver, on Shyam's insolvency claims the goods. Decide the case with reference to the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930.

Answer

Right of stoppage of goods in transit

The problem is based on section 50 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 dealing with the right of stoppage of the goods in transit available to an unpaid seller. The section states that the right is exercisable by the seller only if the following conditions are fulfilled.

- (i) The seller must be unpaid
- (ii) He must have parted with the possession of goods
- (iii) The goods must be in transit
- (iv) The buyer must have become insolvent
- (v) The right is subject to the provisions of the Act.

Applying the provisions to the given case, Ram being still unpaid, can stop the 100 bales of cloth sent by railway as these goods are still in transit.

Question 12

B buys goods from A on payment but leaves the goods in the possession of A. A then pledges the goods to C who has no notice of the sale to B. State whether the pledge is valid and whether C can enforce it. Decide with reference to the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930.

Answer

Pledge by a seller in possession after sale

The problem is based on the provisions of Section 30 (1) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 which provides an exception to the general rule that no one can give a better title than he himself possesses. As per the provisions of the section, if a person has sold goods but continues to be in possession of them or of the documents of title to them, he may pledge them to a third person and if such person obtains them in good faith without notice of the previous sale, he would have good title to them. Accordingly, C, the pledgee who obtains the goods in good faith from A without notice of the previous sale, gets a good title. Thus the pledge is valid.

Unit - I

Q. → Midhi was a telephone operator in a large corporation. A high school graduate she had no other skills other than a pleasant voice & personality. Midhi wanted very much to improve her economic condition. Recognizing her educational limitations, she decided to enhance her employability skills & began to take accounting courses on random basis.

ii) Midhi also took advantage of the corporation bidding system by applying for the openings that were posted even though in many instance she did not meet the specifications. After being rejected for several times, she became discouraged.

Mrs Seema, one of the managers in the corporation observed her depressed spirits.

Mrs Seema invited Midhi to come to her office for a talk about the problem she was having.

Midhi expressed her frustration & disappointment.

As she unburdened herself, it became appar-

→ that, beside lacking special skills, during interviews she had always spoken & apologized for having "only a high school education". This made difficult for her, realised by Mrs. Seema.

Mrs. Seema suggested that she should take positive approach during her interviews or meetings. For example she should stress on herself improvements, willingness, work hard. Following Mrs Seema's advice, Midhi selected a job for which she felt she could qualify. She made a very formal & positive presentation.

stressing the commendable qualities that she possessed. As a result of their approach she was selected for the job of insurance clerk, while this job did not pay much more than that of a telephone operator. It did offer an avenue for possible advancement into accounting field.

Q1) Analyse the case in accordance with the communication that took place between Neelhi & Mrs. Seema

2) Suggest all possible ways that Neelhi can prepare herself in required skills for her new job

Ans: (2) Neelhi is a needy girl, she was working as a telephone operator. She has all the qualities like pleasant voice & pleasant person required for telephone operator. But the issue was that, this job could not pay her more. She actually wants to raise her economic condition. As a telephone operator she got less payment as per her expectations & condition.

Neelhi tried her level best to apply for all the openings provided by her corporation but it was of no use, she was rejected several times.

One day Mrs. Seema, who is manager in the same organization observed her frustration & invited her for discussion.

Mrs. Seema realized that Neelhi has good communication skills, soft voice & pleasant personality, but only at "education" she had to apologize in every interview. The problem with Neelhi was that she has completed her schooling only. Result of these failures she was into frustration. It seems that she was taking everything in negative way.

Mrs. Seema suggested Neelhi to take everything positively, improve herself & work hard. Following the same, Neelhi put her best efforts & given the interview & got selected for the post of clerk.

Unfortunately the job of clerk did not pay as per her expectations, but however it has opened new job opportunities for her in accounting field.

According to me, Neelhi should increase her qualification, she must go for graduation & then Management course because we can easily observe that Neelhi has soft skills but she is lacking in hard skills. With her current education, I think no organization will pay her more than the existing salary.

Conclusion: To become successful in any job or for making successful career, both educational Qualification (Hard skills / Subject knowledge) & soft skills are equally important. Neelhi needs to understand this & make several improvements in herself.

Q2) From the analysis of the case, it is very much clear that Nidhi needs to improve herself for her growth. She can improve herself in following ways:

* Nidhi can not leave the job because of her economic condition is not so good. She can go for distance education like Diploma, B.Com, B.B.A etc. which will be suitable to her. Further, I will suggest her to go for PGDIP or MBA after completion of graduation.

* She can select a job where her pleasant voice & personality will be used. In other words, she has Extrovert personality & she is doing Inward job of Insurance Clerk. Either she has to understand & adopt the skills of Clerk & then take promotion or she will have to change field & apply for Front Desk Job as marketing type Job.

* She can also increase her broader knowledge & applicability of concepts. She can go for courses like Tally or other software related programmes to improve her employability skills.

Conclusion :- Nidhi should improve her Hard Skills i.e. her subject knowledge as per her capacity, interest, requirement of job & so on. She can go for various courses available for Distance Learning.

Q) Domino's Pizza wants to open its branch in Anzavati City. You are appointed as a Marketing Head, which Media you will use for communication & publicity of Domino's Pizza? (7 marks)

⇒ If I will be a Head of Domino's Pizza which is opening its branch in Anzavati City, I will be very careful about communication. Because it is said that, "You will never get a second chance to make your first impression."

As far as the basics are concerned, communication is a process where sender sends ideas, thoughts, information etc & receiver receives it & understands it & reacts accordingly or will give feedback.

I will use Mass Media for communication as following

1) Hardings :- It is used for displaying posters, pictures & ideas. I will display huge Hardings in main areas like Rajpetti, Rajkamal, Camp etc. It will create awareness in the people.

2) T.V. :- Most of people watch T.V. everyday, I will give advertisement on local/regional channels. It will also create awareness among people.

In this way I will use media for the communication of brand, different offers & so on.

A supervisor was explaining to his foreman about how to handle the machine & production process. The foreman was so much pre-occupied with thoughts concerning his family problem so he could not able to receive instructions properly. One fine day there was breakdown in machine. The foreman was held responsible for the whole situation. According to you, who is at fault? Justify.

Communication is a process of transferring ideas, thoughts, information from one person to another. Practically, it is not so easy that every person should receive 100% what speaker has said. It is due to "communication barrier".

If we analyse the above case we can say that the issue is "communication barrier". The process of communication is not completed. A supervisor has given all the instructions related to machine to foreman but he did not take feedback of what the foreman has understood.

Foreman on the other hand was already pre-occupied with thoughts related to his family problem. It is called Psychological barrier of communication so he had poor attention & retention. The mental state of a receiver or foreman also matters a lot in the communication process.

We can also suggest that there may be noise in the factory due to which foreman could not receive instruction properly.

According to me both Supervisor & Foreman are at fault. Supervisor is Sender in the communication & Foreman is Receiver. It is a duty of Sender to check that receiver has understood the message or not. At the same time it is also duty of Receiver, if he has not understood the message sly as ask the ~~receiver~~ Sender & give proper feedback to Sender regarding the same.

In this case - Midres Supervisor has taken feedback from Foreman has communicated about not understanding the message and about his mental status & poor attention so I think both of them are at fault.

To avoid such communication barrier, Supervisor can take feedback from Foreman. Secondly, he can give written instruction of handling machines. Thirdly, He can show videos as take class room training for the same.

ME PROBLEMS

1. For a firm, the average cost function is estimated as $AC = 100/Q + 20 + 4Q$

What is total variable cost for the firm at an output of 15 units?

Solution: $AC = 100/Q + 20 + 4Q$

$$TC = 100 + 20Q + 4Q^2$$

$$TVC = 20Q + 4Q^2$$

$$\begin{aligned} \text{At output 15, TVC} &= 20(15) + 4(15)^2 \\ &= 300 + 900 = \text{Rs. 1200} \end{aligned}$$

2. If the production function is $Q = 20K^{0.3} L^{0.3}$, what is the marginal rate of technical substitution of labor for capital?

Solution: The MRTS is equal to the ratio of the marginal productivities of the two

$$\text{products} - = MP_L / MP_K$$

$$= 6K^{0.3} L^{-0.7} / 6K^{-0.7} L^{0.3}$$

$$= K^{0.3} L^{-0.7} / K^{-0.7} L^{0.3}$$

$$= K/L$$

3. Mr. Subba Rao, owner of Billow Garments & Brothers, employs labor and knitting machines as inputs to produce woolen garments. The following are the marginal productivity functions of labor and capital for the firm:

$$MP_K = 0.75 \frac{L^{0.75}}{K^{0.25}}, \quad MP_L = 0.75 \frac{K^{0.75}}{L^{0.25}}$$

If the wage paid to the laborers is Rs.8 and the cost of capital is Rs.5 each, what is the cost minimizing proportion of L to K?

Solution: Efficient allocation of L & K:

$$MP_L/w = MP_K/r$$

$$0.75K^{0.75}/(L^{0.25} \times 8) = 0.75L^{0.75}/(K^{0.25} \times 5)$$

$$5K = 8L$$

$$\text{Or, } L = 5/8K.$$

4. If the average product of labor (AP_L) is $30L - L^2$, what is the maximum possible total product (TP_L)?

Solution: $AP_L = 30L - L^2$

\therefore Output can be maximized by employing 20 labors.

\therefore Maximum possible $TP_L = 30(20)^2 - (20)^3 = 12,000 - 8,000 = 4,000$ units.

5. The long run cost function of a firm is

$$TC = Q^3 - 40Q^2 - 480Q$$

Beyond what output do diseconomies of scale exist?

Solution: Diseconomies of scale exist at a quantity when $dAC/dQ = 0$

$$atAC = Q^2 - 40Q - 480$$

$$dAC/dQ = 2Q - 40 = 0$$

$$2Q = 40$$

$$\text{Or, } Q = 20 \text{ units.}$$

6. Total cost of production for a firm to produce 200 units is Rs.12,500 and Rs.13,500 for 250 units. What would be the fixed cost for the firm, if the average variable cost is constant?

Solution: Average variable cost = $(3500 - 2500)/(250 - 200) = 20$

$$\text{Fixed cost} = 12500 - 200 \times 20 = 8,500$$

Or,

$$\text{Fixed cost} = 13500 - 250 \times 20 = \text{Rs. } 8,500.$$

7. Marginal Product schedule of a firm at various levels of inputs is given below:

No. of units	1	2	3	4	5	6
Labor	144	96	60	48	36	24
Capital	120	84	60	30	20	10

The wage rate is Rs.12 and cost of capital is Rs.6. If budget of the firm is Rs.60, optimum labor and capital to be employed by the firm are?

Solution: The maximum product rule is given by $MP_L/w = MP_K/r$. This equation stands true only when the firm employs 3 units of labor and 4 units of capital. Budget: $12 \times 3 + 6 \times 4$

= Rs.60.

8. The production function of a firm is $Q = 250L^{0.5}$. What is the quantity of labor that the firm should hire to maximize total profits, when price of the good is Rs.2 and wage rate is Rs.25?

Solution: $Q = 250L^{0.5}$

To maximize profits, the firm should hire labor until $MRP_L = \text{wage}$, where MRP_L

$$= MP_L \times MR = 125/L^{0.5} \times 2$$

$$250/L^{0.5} = 25$$

$$\text{Or, } 10 = L^{0.5}$$

$$\text{Or, } L = 100 \text{ units.}$$

9. If the total cost function is $TC = 200 - 4Q + 6Q^2$ and the output is 4 units, what is the marginal cost?

Solution: When $Q = 4$, $MC = 12Q - 4 = 12(4) - 4 = 44$.

10. The production function for a firm is given by $Q = 50K^{0.5} L^{0.5}$. The efficient input combination ratio is estimated to be $K = 4L$. If the firm has to produce an output of 2,000 units, what is the efficient input combination?

Solution: $Q = 50K^{0.5} L^{0.5}$

$$K = 4L$$

$$\therefore Q = 50(4L)^{0.5} L^{0.5}$$

$$2000 = 50 \times 2L$$

$$\text{Or, } L = 20$$

$$\text{Hence, } K = 20 \times 4 = 80.$$

11. A monopolist has the cost function $TC(y) = 200y + 15y^2$ and faces the demand function given by $p = 1200 - 10y$.

What output maximizes its profit? What is the profit-maximizing price? What is its maximal profit?

Solution: We have $TR(y) = (1200 - 10y)y = 1200y - 10y^2$, so

$$MR(y) = 1200 - 20y.$$

Also

$$MC(y) = 200 + 30y.$$

Thus any output at which MR is equal to MC satisfies

$$1200 - 20y = 200 + 30y,$$

or

$$50y = 1000, \text{ or } y = 20.$$

- We have $MR'(y) = -20$ and $MC'(y) = 30$, so $MC'(20) \geq MR'(20)$.
- The price associated with $y = 20$ is $p = 1200 - (10)(20) = 1000$, so the firm's profit is

$$(1000)(20) - 200(20) - 15(20)^2 = 20000 - 4000 - 6000 = 10000.$$

Since this profit is positive, the optimal output for the monopolist is the output we have found, namely $y^* = 20$. The price is 1000 and the monopolist's profit is 10000.

12 A monopolist effectively segmented the market into two sub markets – X and Y. The total functions in two sub markets are given by:

$$TR_X = 20Q_X - 0.01Q_X^2 ;$$

$$TR_Y = 32Q_Y - 0.02Q_Y^2$$

The marginal cost of the monopolist is constant at Rs.6.

If the monopolist practices price discrimination, what will be the profit-maximizing prices?

Solution: The profit maximizing output can be determined when $MR = MC$.

In market X,

$$TR = 20 Q_X - 0.01Q_X^2$$

$$\therefore MR = 20 - 0.02Q_X$$

\therefore Profit maximizing output can be determined when $MR = MC$.

$$20 - 0.02Q_X = 6$$

$$Q_X = 700$$

$$\text{When } Q_X = 700, P_X = 20 - 0.01(700) = \text{Rs.13.}$$

In market Y,

$$TR = 32Q_Y - 0.02Q_Y^2$$

$$\therefore MR = 32 - 0.04Q_Y$$

\therefore Profit maximizing output can be determined when $MR = MC$.

$$32 - 0.04Q_Y = 6$$

$$Q_Y = 650$$

When $Q_Y = 650$, $P_Y = 32 - 0.02(650) = \text{Rs.}19$.

13. A firm operating in a monopolistic competition has the following demand function:

$$P = 1,000 - Q$$

If the marginal cost of the firm is constant at Rs.10, then what is the equilibrium output in the long run?

Solution: The equilibrium output in the long run is determined where $P=AC$

Note that when MC is constant at Rs.10, AC would also be Rs.10.

$$1,000 - Q = 10$$

$$Q = 1000 - 10 = 990 \text{ units.}$$

14. Quantity demanded of a product decreases from 4,000 units to 3,000 units when price of the product increases from Rs.40 to Rs.45. If income effect is estimated to be 900, what is the substitution effect of the price change?

Solution: Price effect = Income effect + Substitution effect

$$1000 = 900 + \text{Substitution effect}$$

Thus, substitution effect = 100.

15. A perfectly competitive industry comprises of 150 firms. Of which, 50 are located in Chennai, while remaining 100 are in Hosur. All the output is sold only at Hyderabad. The cost of transporting one unit of output from Hosur to Hyderabad is Rs.8 and Rs.12 from Chennai to Hyderabad. The cost function of all the firms in the industry (excluding transportation cost) is identical and is estimated as

$$C = 100 + Q^2$$

If the industry demand function is $Q_d = 2,020 - 10P$, what is the equilibrium output for the industry?

Solution: Each firm would maximize profit by equating MC and price.

Cost function for a firm located at Chennai

$$C_c = 100 + Q_c^2 + 12Q_c$$

$$MC_c = 2Q_c + 12$$

Cost function for a firm located at Hosur

$$C_h = 100 + Q_h^2 + 8Q_h$$

$$MC_h = 2Q_h + 8$$

To maximize profits, $P = MC$

$$\text{Thus, } P = MC_c = 2Q_c + 12 \text{ or, } Q_c = 0.5P - 6$$

$$P = MC_h = 2Q_h + 8 \text{ or, } Q_h = 0.5P - 4$$

Industry supply, $Q_s = 50Q_c + 100Q_h$ (50 firms in Chennai and 100 firms in Hosur)

$$Q_s = 50(0.5P - 6) + 100(0.5P - 4)$$

$$Q_s = 25P - 300 + 50P - 400 = 75P - 700$$

At equilibrium, $Q_d = Q_s$

$$75P - 700 = 2020 - 10P$$

$$85P = 2720$$

$$\text{Or, } P = 32.$$

$$\text{Or, } Q = 2020 - 10(32) = 1700 \text{ units}$$

Practical cases to be discussed in Classroom

Q .1) Is Indian cricket team relay a team, or just a group? What Characteristics are required to make this team a cohesive group?

Ans : It is a Team because if there is a formal group assigned for particular task it referred as a team.

- The group member should have a Unity in the group.
- Coordination is very important
- Result Oriented-Focus towards the goal
- Performance driven
- Progressive
- Enthusiastic is very important for the working effectively
- Satisfied members
- Emotionally Balanced
- Group Pried
- Team member should be interactive between each other
- Positive Feeling
- Ability to Cope with Problems
- More Productive

2) The Jubilee mills of Ahmadabad to form cohesive group of small number of employees in all its department so as to enhance their performances. Employees of this mill generally come from different background and have different aims and ambitions. They also belong to a diverse culture. While on work they did interact with each other but an appropriate intimacy never came into being amongst them? What failed the group formation in jubilee mills? Explain.

Ans: There are four steps in group forming namely are as follow;

- Forming:
If this stages this is the primary stage of group forming in which formal or informal group get form.
- Storming:
In this Stage group member from different background come to know about each other an confront with each others thought process hence Storming happens.
- Norming:
At norming stage they adjust with each other and group start performing.
- Performing:

Here group perform a given task

Here in the above case it seems that employees from jubilant company failed 2nd stage of group forming as they belong to different culture an background they were unable to adjust with each other and so forming, storming and norming stages failed. Resulting in group conflicts and low cohesiveness.

3) Bombay textiles has 900 employees working in three shifts in its two units located apart. When shift of an employee changes he is transferred to another unit where he works with new faces. Employees come to the co. from different localities of the city through the different transportation modes. The company wants to develop cohesive groups of employees and consults you for this purpose. How would you go about it?

Ans : Here we will suggest...

1. We suggest they provide a single transportation facility.
2. Frequently confrontation meeting will be conducted.
3. T-Group Training will be provided to employees.
4. Job rotation.
5. Employee's engagement activity.
6. Learning & Development Program
7. Quality Cercal Communities of practices.
8. Increase the time members spend together.
9. More Communication

4) Suggest the way to create interpersonal awareness in a group of 12 employees working in the Packing section of a milk cooperatives union plant.

Ans: Here we will suggest...

1. Orientation Program
2. T-Group
3. Employees engagement activity
4. Learning & Development
5. Brainstorming
6. Encouraging team working
7. Encouraging to involve in organisational activities.

5). You as a HR manager conducting a training programme for new recruited employees for their development but due to conflicts between HR manager & some other employees they are resisting the training programme & not at all interested to attain it. How you will cope up with this conflicts between manager and employees.

Ans: According to my opinion here i will cope up with this conflict between manager and employees following ways.

Such as....

1. The two parties work together both to define the problem and to identify mutually satisfactory solutions.
2. To Identify the problem between manager and employees
3. Both the parties will be invited in confrontation meeting.
4. Analysing the both parties problem
5. Draw the optimal solution.
6. According to that give proper solution and execute that problem.
7. To gain commitment by incorporating concerns into a consensus.

8. To work through feelings that has interfered with a relationship.
9. To increase the more interactions between manager and employees to understand to each other and introduce them why training programme is important for new recruit employees and how it is beneficial for organisation..

This way we can solve the conflicts between manager and employees.

6) Suggest ways to improve the interpersonal trust in a group where target is 1 month to complete the task of employees training.

Ans: As per my notion we can improve the interpersonal trust in a group are following ways...

1. To establish positive and supportive relationship with the group members.
2. These are condition that creates an emotional environment in which a group member feels comfortable and safe.
3. The group members have more interaction between each other to increasing the interpersonal behaviour and to know the each other.
4. Then they share their fairness and threats with each other and try to overcome that fair and threat.
5. To supporting and helping to each other.
6. Focus on group objective or group goals not individuals.
7. Working in goal oriented.
8. Adjust with each other and cooperate to group individuals.
9. Understand to every individual in group and work together.
10. Working group target oriented and achieve the group target.

7) Illustrate with the help of an example different roles played in group decision making for redesigning an old model automobile car.

8) Imagine that you are a manager attempting to explain the use of a certain new computer software package to a subordinate. Should this be accomplished using written or spoken communication, or both? Explain your decision.

Sol- Written Communication is formal communication, which is used in schools, colleges, business world, etc. Choosing between the two communication mode is a tough task because both are good at their places. People normally use the oral mode of communication because it is convenient and less time-consuming.

9) Describe conditions with organisation that may lead to the group synergy-effects and some steps that can be taken for better result.

10) A team /group of heterogeneous member working in the office of MNC's is proposing to bring Out the cohesiveness in group. you as a group leade, how would you suggest group cohesiveness.

Event Conduction Duration: One Week

Event Venue: MCA Lab, P. G. Department of Computer Applications.

Event Resource Person Details: Prof. Preeti P. Deshmukh, P. G. Department of Computer Applications.

Name of Event Co-ordinator: Prof. Preeti P. Deshmukh, P. G. Department of Computer Applications.

Objective:

- To create awareness about Arduino programming among the students.
- To demonstrate the advantages of Arduino microcontroller and their applications in several fields.
- To discuss the industrial application of Arduino and encourage students for control and automation projects using Arduino.

- Coverage of Workshop

P. G. Department of Computer Applications organized one week workshop on "Arduino Programming and Applications Designing". Workshop was conducted by Preeti Deshmukh, Assistant Professor at P. G. Department of Computer Applications, PRMIT&R. around 40 students from 3rd year and 2nd year MCA took part in this workshop. Main focus of the workshop was to do hands on practical with Arduino Uno board. Arduino is an open source development board used by developers and hobbyist for creating projects and prototypes. Arduino has vast collection of supporting libraries developed by open source users across the world. Learning this platform might help students in rapid prototype development their project. Keeping these facts in mind content of workshop was designed and delivered.

In the first session students got familiar with various development boards of Arduino and learnt the development environment for Arduino. Working with Arduino I/O pin was taught initially and students run small practical like blinking LED, interfacing Pushbutton switch. Later important concepts were covered and practical implementation performed. In the second session Infrared LED based human entry door counter was implemented. Students learnt to interface 16x2 LCD with Arduino and displayed various data on display. Working with Analog pins was also covered in second session in which students perform analog to digital conversion and accordingly set the brightness of LED. Than Pulse Width Modulation feature was covered and students implemented fading of LED and speed control of motor. Relay concept was demonstrated to students, they learnt to control alarms via Arduino. Students also learnt to work with infrared remote and emulated working of Projector IR remote as well as switching led on and off with infrared remotes. Using Ethernet Shield of Arduino web server was created and through local network demo of controlling home appliances was shown. So students learnt to implement simple practical of implementing IoT.

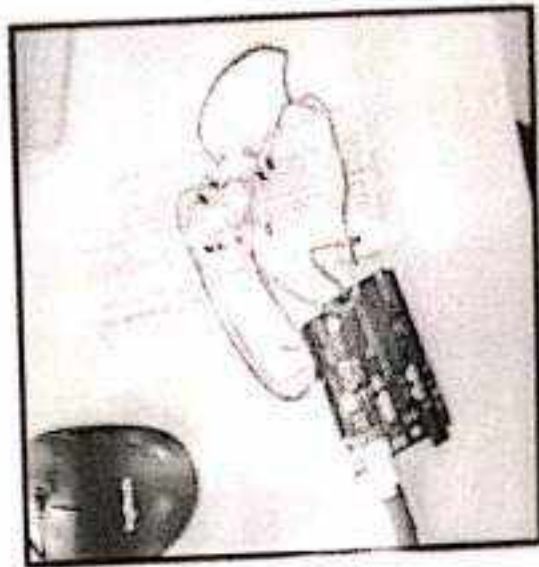

Overall student learnt the basics of working with Arduino and gained basic knowledge of various Arduino development boards; Programming environment; onboard features of Arduino Uno: I/O, Analog, PWM; Arduino shields and IoT using Arduino. Feedback from students was collected and it suggested that they welcomed this initiative and they are motivated to explore more dimension in this platform also they are willing to use this board in their projects in future.

- Outcome:

- Student learned Arduino programming by developing various applications that will improve their programming skill and also be very helpful for developing different models.

Students got conversant with the coding language of Arduino and understood its application in automation sectors.

Received 31 December 2019; Accepted 15 January 2020

Abstract: Due to an earthquake life, financial, mental losses and other bad effect are growing. In some condition there is increase in losses due to absence or improper severability of lifeline structure after disaster. So serviceability of lifeline structure (mostly hospital and bridges) after earthquake is more important in earthquake prone zone. Conventional earthquake resistant design will increase strength and ductility but structure will not be serviceable after major earthquake. So, there is a need to find additional way to protect lifeline structure. In this state of art, vibration control of a structure with help of varies new age dampers are discussed. This paper provides classification of control system, basic principle, construction, working, application and placing of Viscous fluid (VFD) and Magneto-rheological dampers (MR).

Keywords: Earthquake, vibration control, Seismic control systems, viscous fluid dampers, MR damper.

I. INTRODUCTION

From past few decades, the world has experienced number of destroying earthquakes. During earthquake, number of people losses their life, house and financial sources due to collapse and severe losses in structure. But some people save their life due to the situation but they suffering from highly serious injuries, mental attack, respiratory problem and inflectional diseases and need immediate primary medical treatment. So, serviceability of lifeline structure is important at that time. As per conventional method of designing, under minor but frequent shaking, the main members of the buildings that carry vertical and horizontal forces should not be damaged; however buildings parts that do not carry load may sustain repairable damage. Under moderate but occasional shaking, the main members may sustain repairable damage, while the other parts that do not carry load may sustain repairable damage. Under strong but rare shaking, the main members may sustain severe damage, but the building should not collapse (IS 1893:2016). Hence, as per above philosophy, after major earthquake, building does not serve the purpose. This aftermath damages in Health facilities lead to increase in dead/ injured ratio as shown in Table no.1

TABLE 1 COMPARATIVE DATA RELEVANT TO MAJOR EARTHQUAKES OF THE PAST DECADE (Motamedi et. al., 2002).

Place	Date	Local magnitude (Richters)	Ratio of casualties: dead/ injured (%)	City Damage, %	Health facilities damage, %
Iran (Bam)	2003 Dec	6.6	26,271/51,500: (51)	85	90
Haiti (Portau-Prince)	2010 Jan	7.2	212,000/512,000: (42)	90	22
Peru (Ica)	2007 Aug	7.9	514/1,604: (32)	Most of the city	60
China (Sichuan)	2008 May	8.0	69,170/443,329: (15)	80	N/A
Pakistan (Kashmir)	2005 Oct	7.6	73,276/ 153,276:(47)	60	90

So serviceability of lifeline structures is most important in earthquake affected area. Safety and serviceability improved by reducing vibration levels of structures due to unexpected lateral seismic loads. For that, providing new concepts of design of structures against seismic loading is necessary. So that, now a day's various types of vibration control systems are used in the structure which broadly divided in to active, passive, hybrid and semi active vibration control devises. In this state of art, vibration control of a structure with help of varies new age dampers are discussed. This paper provides classification of control system, basic principle, construction, working, application and placing of viscous and magneto-rheological dampers.

MBA

Unit - I

Q. -> Midhi was a telephone operator in a large corporation. A high school graduate she had no other skills other than a pleasant voice & personality. Midhi wanted very much to improve her economic condition. Recognizing her educational limitations, she decided to enhance her employability skills & began to take accounting courses on random basis.

ii) Midhi also took advantage of the corporation bidding system by applying for the openings that were posted even though in many instance she did not meet the specifications. After being rejected for several times, she became discouraged.

Mrs Seema, one of the managers in the corporation observed her depressed spirits.

Mrs Seema invited Midhi to come to her office for a talk about the problem she was having.

Midhi expressed her frustration & disappointment.

As she unburdened herself, it became appar-

iii) that, beside lacking special skills, during interviews she had always spoken & apologized for having "only a high school education". This made difficult for her, realised by Mrs. Seema.

Mrs. Seema suggested that she should take positive approach during her interviews or meetings. For example she should stress on herself improvements, willingness, work hard. Following Mrs Seema's advice, Midhi selected a job for which she felt she could qualify. She made a very formal & positive presentation.

stressing the commendable qualities that she possessed. As a result of their approach she was selected for the job of insurance clerk, while this job did not pay much more than that of a telephone operator. It did offer an avenue for possible advancement into accounting field.

Q1) Analyse the case in accordance with the communication that took place between Neelhi & Mrs. Seema

2) Suggest all possible ways that Neelhi can prepare herself in required skills for her new job

Ans: (2) Neelhi is a needy girl, she was working as a telephone operator. She has all the qualities like pleasant voice & pleasant person required for telephone operator. But the issue was that, this job could not pay her more. She actually wants to raise her economic condition. As a telephone operator she got less payment as per her expectations & condition.

Neelhi tried her level best to apply for all the openings provided by her corporation but it was of no use, she was rejected several times.

One day Mrs. Seema, who is manager in the same organization observed her frustration & invited her for discussion.

Mrs. Seema realized that Neelhi has good communication skills, soft voice & pleasant personality, but only at "education" she had to apologize in every interview. The problem with Neelhi was that she has completed her schooling only. Result of these failures she was into frustration. It seems that she was taking everything in negative way.

Mrs. Seema suggested Neelhi to take everything positively, improve herself & work hard. Following the same, Neelhi put her best efforts & given the interview & get selected for the post of clerk.

Unfortunately the job of clerk did not pay as per her expectations, but however it has opened new job opportunities for her in accounting field.

According to me, Neelhi should increase her qualification, she must go for graduation & then Management course because we can easily observe that Neelhi has soft skills but she is lacking in hard skills. With her current education, I think no organization will pay her more than the existing salary.

Conclusion: To become successful in any job or for making successful career, both educational Qualification (Hard skills / Subject knowledge) & soft skills are equally important. Neelhi needs to understand this & make several improvements in herself.

Q2) From the analysis of the case, it is very much clear that Nidhi needs to improve herself for her growth. She can improve herself in following ways.

* Nidhi can not leave the job because of her economic condition is not so good. She can go for distance education like Diploma, B.Com, B.B.A etc. which will be suitable to her. Further, I will suggest her to go for PGDIP or MBA after completion of graduation.

* She can select a job where her pleasant voice & personality will be used. In other words, she has Extrovert personality & she is doing Inward job of Insurance Clerk. Either she has to understand & adopt the skills of Clerk & then take promotion or she will have to change field & apply for Front Desk Job as marketing type Job.

* She can also increase her broader knowledge & applicability of concepts. She can go for courses like Tally or other software related programmes to improve her employability skills.

Conclusion :- Nidhi should improve her Hard Skills i.e. her subject knowledge as per her capacity, interest, requirement of job & so on. She can go for various courses available for distance learning.

1) You are newly appointed Marketing Manager of a sale selling Washing Machine in a distant city. You will have to make a Team for the same. Which skills do you expect from your team members? (2 marks)

If I will be a Marketing Manager, apart from experience I will prefer following skills in my team members.

1) Technical Skills :- Technical skills means knowledge & abilities needed to accomplish specific tasks. Specially I will look after the knowledge of product must be there to every team member without which one can not sell the product.

2) Communication Skills :- Team member needs to be a good listener, should express himself clearly & should be a good presenter.

3) Negotiation Skills :- Team member should have Negotiation skills to convince about products & offers to customers.

4) Team Player :- Team work always play wonders. A person in the team should bring his strengths, weaknesses as well as of others also. A team player is always dedicated to achievement of goal. So my subordinate must be team player first.

5) Disturbance Handler skills / Problem Solving skills :- This is very important skill in which person needs to identify problem, go to its root cause & bring possible solutions. He must have ability to find out specific solution for solving any specific problem.

6) Decision Making Skills :- Marketing person has to take many decisions at their level, a team member must have good decision making skills.

7) Self Management skills :- Managing self is a challenging task today. Right from planning, implementing those plans effectively, utilizing resources properly, etc thing will come in this.

According to me above skills are required for Marketing Executive of any organization.

Q) Domino's Pizza wants to open its branch in Anzavati City. You are appointed as a Marketing Head, which Media you will use for communication & publicity of Domino's Pizza? (7 marks)

⇒ If I will be a Head of Domino's Pizza which is opening its branch in Anzavati City, I will be very careful about communication.

Because it is said that, "You will never get second chance to make your first impression."

As far as the basics are concerned, communication is a process where sender sends ideas, thoughts, information etc & receiver receives it & understands it & reacts accordingly or will give feedback.

I will use Mass Media for communication as following

1) Hardings :- It is used for displaying posters, pictures & ideas. I will display huge Hardings in main areas like Rajpetti, Rajkamal, Camp etc. It will create awareness in the people.

2) T.V. :- Most of people watch T.V. everyday, I will give advertisement on local/regional channels. It will also create awareness among people.

3) Radio :- FM Radio like Radio Mirchi also have great impact on people. Many people listen Radio everyday. Different offers can be communicated by Radio. I can host musical

Programmer also

4) Internet & Mobiles :- We can use websites of social networking like Facebook or we can create whatsapp group & convey message about product. Specially our target customer i.e. youngsters can be informed through this.

5) Sponsorship of Programmer :- We can sponsor as give sponsorship to various cultural, ~~programs~~ dancing, singing programmes & increase awareness.

6) News papers / Magazines :- We can identify largest selling newspapers & magazines in the city & give our ad on front page / main page.

7) Pamphlets :- We can distribute pamphlets near colleges, theatres & malls. It will also attract customers.

In this way I will use media for the communication of brand, different offers & so on.

A supervisor was explaining to his foreman about how to handle the machine & production process. The foreman was so much pre-occupied with thoughts concerning his family problem so he could not able to receive instructions properly. One fine day there was breakdown in machine. The foreman was held responsible for the whole situation. According to you, who is at fault? Justify.

Communication is a process of transferring ideas, thoughts, information from one person to another. Practically, it is not so easy that every person should receive 100% what speaker has said. It is due to "communication barrier".

If we analyse the above case we can say that the issue is "communication barrier". The process of communication is not completed. A supervisor has given all the instructions related to machine to foreman but he did not take feedback of what the foreman has understood.

Foreman on the other hand was already pre-occupied with thoughts related to his family problem. It is called Psychological barrier of communication so he had poor attention & retention. The mental state of a receiver or foreman also matters a lot in the communication process.

We can also suggest that there may be noise in the factory due to which foreman could not receive instruction properly.

According to me both Supervisor & Foreman are at fault. Supervisor is Sender in the communication & Foreman is Receiver. It is a duty of Sender to check that receiver has understood the message or not. At the same time it is also duty of Receiver, if he has not understood the message sly as ask the receiver Sender & give proper feedback to Sender regarding the same.

In this case - Midres Supervisor has taken feedback from Foreman has communicated about not understanding the message and about his mental status & poor attention so I think both of them are at fault.

To avoid such communication barrier, Supervisor can take feedback from Foreman. Secondly, he can give written instruction of handling machines. Thirdly, He can show videos as take class room training for the same.

Explanation:

Day first of Induction: On day first we have scheduled corporate induction in which all trainees will understand the organizations objectives, vision & mission, so that they will get crystal clear image of an organization they are working with. So it will help them to feel comfortable & confident in organization.

After this we have scheduled their orientation with HR so they will be able to understand the HR policies, rules & regulations of the organization as well as they will get clear idea about their job description. It will help them to operate smoothly in organization.

Day Second of Induction: On second day we have scheduled orientation to Production department. As trainees are getting placed in production department so it should be very detailed. Due to this they will come to know the way of working, work environment, job environment, get introduced with colleagues, they will understand the technical aspects of their job, their authorities & responsibilities.

Third Day of Induction: On third day trainees will get orientation of all other departments of an organization which will help them in interdepartmental co-ordination.

With this we have scheduled some motivational activities & coffee breaks at regular interval for their refreshment & to make them comfortable.

In this way their induction will get completed successfully.

Case 2

2. The following is the observation of the Production Manager about the newly recruited graduate engineer trainee, Mr. Sanjay Kapoor. Working in the production department Sanjay has undergone induction training of one day after being recruited in the job. The other trainees are doing well in the department.
- Lack of enthusiasm in working.
 - Lack of attention in work.
 - Always completes the work late.

What is your assessment in the need of Training for Sanjay?

Solution: As mentioned all newly recruited engineer trainees are doing well excluding only Mr. Sanjay Kapoor. He is lacking in enthusiasm & attention in work & always completes the work late; it reveals that he might be having following problems.

- He has not understood his work profile in proper way during induction
- As he is lacking in enthusiasm in work that means he is unable to find himself comfortable in an organization's ecosystem.
- As it is observed that he is not giving proper attention to his work it might be due to lack of willingness to work.
- As he always completes the work late it means he has not understood the way of working, he is unable to handle technical equipments in proper way.

Collectively we can say that Mr. Sanjay Kapoor is lacking in functional as well as administrative areas of his job.

We can conclude that all these problems are due to,

- In one day's induction program Mr. Sanjay Kapoor was not able to understand the functional & administrative areas of his job.
- He is not technically sound.
- He is a gene-x employee & he lacks in self motivation.

It means Mr. Sanjay Kapoor needs both technical as well as behavioral training. Training manager can discuss these things with the production head & can counsel to Mr. Kapoor. While counseling training manager will come to know the exact problem of Mr. Kapoor. As this is the case of individual problem so for technical training organization can go with On-the-Job training, peer training & instruction & for behavioral problem training manager can let him know & make him aware about organization's rules and regulations & policies. To motivate him training manager can use carrot & stick theory that is explain him if he will perform better then he can receive its benefit from the organization.

Case. 1) Bhuvan has noticed that Pinnacle Custom Homes Case isn't the cheerful, pleasant AI place it used to be. Back when he was building six homes a year, everyone appeared to be dedicated to meeting deadlines, controlling costs, and keeping customers highly satisfied. But over the past two years the company has grown to 15 houses and added two new employees. Now it seems like everything is falling through the cracks: Deadlines are missed, mistakes are made on the houses, and work has to be redone. In addition, no one wants to accept responsibility for mistakes, and everyone blames someone else. Bhuvan has also noticed that tempers are shorter, and he even has found himself arbitrating territorial disputes between departmental functions.

Yes, people may have become burned out from the increased work, but Bhuvan had hired additional help in both the office and the field, and had increased salaries to keep pace with the market. But a lot of the fun and spark has gone out of the work, and Bhuvan feels a distinct lack of enthusiasm or camaraderie in the ranks. What is going wrong?

Case. 2) Sanjana, an 3 years employee in ABS Corp. A careful, hardworking, disciplined, ideas contributor employee in the company. She expected good pay, feedback and next promotion from her top management. However, the one who get promoted is Aditya who is being a good friend to her boss. She believed Aditya's promotion is not based on his performance and skill as Sanjana believes that his skill and performance is not as high as hers. Sanjana makes a perception where her boss being discriminate her based on sexism by letting Aditya get promoted. Sanjana began to change from positive to negative attitude as her perception towards Aditya and her boss becomes negative.

1. With reference to the case, Sanjana may have made wrong perception towards her boss's decision. Discuss the possible decision that Sanjana could take in order to provide her with more accurate perception.

So, with the elements, it has influenced Salmah to create a negative perception toward her boss's decision in promoting Ahmad instead of her. The perception that created by Salmah may be wrong and to increase the accuracy of Salmah's perception, the method is:

Check the perception
Awareness of Perception Biases
Improving Self-awareness
Interaction and Communication

In Salmah's case, what she „believed“ is more than what she really „know“. She believed that her skill and performance is higher than Ahmad's skill and performance. This situation could lead to negative perception towards her boss's decision as she regarded herself is more valuable than Ahmad. Checking the information on Ahmad's skill and performance could increase the accuracy of her perception towards her boss's decision.

Perceptual biases occur when perceiver's beliefs influenced their evaluation. Such example, if an employer has a beliefs that man employee can perform well than woman employee, a perceptual biases has occur. By acknowledge this biases occur, the perceiver's need to minimize the errors of perceiving. There are 6 types of perceptual errors.

Based on the case, Salmah may has the wrong perceptions toward her boss's decision in promoting Ahmad instead of her. It can relate to the error of halo-effect in making perception towards Ahmad. Ahmad's one trait that his skill and performance is regarded as lower than her makes Salmah think negatively about her boss letting Ahmad being promoted. The one trait that form a general conclusion that led to negative perception of Salmah towards her boss's decision. In increasing the accuracy of Salmah's perception, Salmah has to change the perception that influence by her beliefs in resulting negative perception towards her boss's decision and change the beliefs that Ahmad is not entitled from being promoted based on his skill.

More powerful to improve and increase accuracy of perception is by self-awareness. It help people to become more aware in detecting the biases in he perception made. Most of the wrong perception is influenced by the mindset, own beliefs and environmental factors. In order to reduce the error, the perceiver must aware of the factor contributed to the wrong perception. Generally, getting know ourselves is the way to reduce the wrong perception and unknowingly increase the accuracy of the perception made towards others.

Based on the case, Salmah regarded Ahmad's skill and performance are lower than hers that make her thinks negatively about her boss's decision. However, she do not really know her actual performance and skills that regarded higher than Ahmad's. To increase the accuracy that led to creation of negative perception towards her boss's decision, Salmah should get to know herself by getting feedback from friends or colleagues before making a conclusion of something. By applying Johari Window model could make Salmah better know about herself and others and avoid creating wrong perception.

Based on the case, Salmah did not interact or communicate with Ahmad. She did communicate and interact with her boss but she received a little feedback from her boss. No interaction or communication with Ahmad makes Salmah creates a wrong perception on how Ahmad perform in the organization. This led to perceptual biases where she regarded that Ahmad's performance is lower than her. Furthermore, she perceived that Ahmad is being her boss's best friend and that is the reason why Ahmad get the promotion instead of her. Salmah should interact and communicate with Ahmad to know Ahmad better rather than making a general assumption about Ahmad and her boss. This will result in accurate perception made towards Ahmad and her boss's decision. In conclusion, in order to increase the accuracy of the perception that Salmah's made towards her boss's decision, she should check the perception, aware of the perceptual biases, improving self-awareness and communicate and interact with others. Changing the misperception made towards her boss and Ahmad could change her attitude that has changed to the negative as she start to come late for works, stop contributing ideas and take unwarranted sick leaves. She should avoid the misperception and maintain her role as the employee and continuously contribute to the organization.

Case. 4) Ajay, 23 year old, fresh MBA with HR, starts his career has a junior HR executive at Raj Manufacturing House. His boss is a simple B.Com Degree holder with 4 years of handy experience. He does not like Ajay's joining the company and therefore tortures him by different ways. He wants Ajay to resign so he almost harasses him by playing politics in background. Ajay comes to know about this. If you were a consultant, what advice would you give him? What is the reason for the boss' negative behavior?

Case. 3) Susan Harrington continued to drum her fingers on her desk. She had a real problem and wasn't sure what to do next. She had a lot of confidence in Jack Reed, but she suspected she was about the last person in the office who did. Perhaps if she ran through the entire story again in her mind she would see the solution. Susan had been distribution manager for Clarkston Industries for almost twenty years. An early brush with the law and a short stay in prison had made her realize the importance of honesty and hard work. Henry Clarkston had given her a chance despite her record, and Susan had made the most of it. She now was one of the most respected managers in the company. Few people knew her background. Susan had hired Jack Reed fresh out of prison six months ago.

Susan understood how Jack felt when Jack tried to explain his past and asked for another chance. Susan decided to give him that chance just as Henry Clarkston had given her one. Jack eagerly accepted a job on the loading docks and could soon load a truck as fast as anyone in the crew. Things had gone well at first. Everyone seemed to like Jack, and he made several new friends. Susan had been vaguely disturbed about two months ago, however, when another dock worker reported his wallet missing.

She confronted Jack about this and was reassured when Jack understood her concern and earnestly but calmly asserted his innocence. Susan was especially relieved when the wallet was found a few days later. The events of last week, however, had caused serious trouble. First, a new personnel clerk had come across records about Jack's past while updating employee files. Assuming that the information was common knowledge, the clerk had mentioned to several employees what a good thing it was to give ex-convicts like Jack a chance. The next day, someone in bookkeeping discovered some money missing from petty cash. Another worker claimed to have seen Jack in the area around the office strongbox, which was open during working hours, earlier that same day.

Most people assumed Jack was the thief. Even the worker whose wallet had been misplaced suggested that perhaps Jack had indeed stolen it but had returned it when questioned. Several employees had approached Susan and requested that Jack be fired. Meanwhile, when Susan had discussed the problem with Jack, Jack had been defensive and sullen and said little about the petty-cash situation other than to deny stealing the money. To her dismay, Susan found that rethinking the story did little to solve his problem.

Should she fire Jack? The evidence, of course, was purely circumstantial, yet everybody else seemed to see things quite clearly. Susan feared that if she did not fire Jack, she would lose everyone's trust and that some people might even begin to question her own motives.

Case Questions

1. Explain the events in this case in terms of perception and attitudes. Does personality play a role?
2. What should Susan do? Should she fire Jack or give him another chance?

In the above case bring out the significance of each of the stated variables on the poorest production record of Arun’s department.

Q.21) Mr. Eswara Chandra worked hard right from his joining Hindustan machineries & became the Assistant plant manager at an early age in the Srinagar unit. The Hyderabad plant was falling difficulty in meeting its budget & production quotas. Hence, he was promoted as plant manager & transferred to the Hyderabad unit. He was directed to set right the functioning of the unit.

Mr. Eswara Chandra was very ambitious & also little bit autocratic. He believed in the exercise of authority & control to carry out his decisions. He made a preliminary study of the plant & issued instructions to all departments to reduce their budgeted expenses by 5 percent. A fortnight later, he also instructed the department to increase the production by 10 percent. He required several new reports & watched the operations closely. At the end of second month, he dismissed two supervisors who had failed to meet the production quotas. Four other supervisors resigned. Eswara Chandra insisted that all rules & budgets should be followed scrupulously without any expectations.

With his efforts, he succeeded in producing desired results. Productivity increased considerably & exceeded the standard set by 8 percent within 6 months, the unit was very much within the budget. He thus showed outstanding performance in Hyderabad unit & was promoted to the Bangalore office towards the end of second year. Shortly after he left, productivity in Hyderabad plant dropped to 20 percent below the standard & the budget was against in trouble.

- 1) Analyze the kind of organizational climate change created by Eswara Chandra in Hyderabad plant.
- 2) Give reasons in brief for the productivity drop immediately after the departure of Mr. Eswara Chandra.

The corporation has created a new post below the cadre of General Manager i. e, Joint General manager and asked Mr. Prakash to join the corporation as Joint General Manager's Mr. Prakash agreed to it viewing that he will be considered for General Manager's Position based on his performance. Mr. Anand, the Deputy General Manager of the corporation and one of the candidates for General Manager's Position was annoyed with the management's practice. The performance of the Deputy General manager.

Joint General manager and General Manager has to be appraised by the same group of the subordinates. Mr. Prakash is a stronger to the system as well as its modus operandi. Mr Shastri and Mr. Anand were competing with each other in convincing their subordinates about their performance and used all sorts of techniques for pleasing them like promising them a wage like, transfers to the job of their interest, promotion etc Also these two officers functioned in collaboration with a view to pull down Mr Prakash. They openly told their subordinates that a stronger should not occupy the 'Chair'. They created several groups among employees like pro - Anand's groups, pro - Shastry's group, Anti Prakash Mr. Prakash has been watching the proceedings calmly and keeping the management in tough with all these developments. However Mr. Prakash has been quite work - conciaus and tap management found his performance under such a political atmosphere to be satisfactory Prakash's pleasing manners and way of maintaining human relations with different levels of employees did, however, prevent anti

- Prakash wave in the company. Management administered the performance appraisal technique and the subordinates appraised the performance of all these three managers. In the end surprisingly the workers assigned the following overall score : Prakash 560 points Shastry : 420 points & Anand : 260 points !

When you speak with John's administrative assistant, he complains about John's constant sarcasm and insincerity. In speaking with John yourself, it seems as if he is not really listening to you as you seek to discuss this issue with him. His facial expressions and body language come across as quite negative. As HR manager of the company which challenges will you face to improve the behaviour of Mr. John ? Justify.

Recently, however, her entire staff quit all at once. They described her as "impossible to work with, "Insensitive to others", "abrasive", and "mean". In looking into the situation, you find that Jane's primary focus has been on getting the job done. She admits to you that she cares very little about the personal needs of her subordinates and that she gets very impatient with anyone who can't keep up with her fast-paced style of management. Being HR manager how will you overcome this big challenge of performance management ? Justify your answer.

11. ABC Limited Company is a leading company having 3,00,000 employees worldwide; last year the company appointed 200 fresher engineers from IITAhemadabad. Now the rumours spread within the organisation that in this year the HRD will evaluate the performance of only 80 fresher engineers out of 200 employees. After a

But this year it is found that some of the employees performed poorly. So management took a decision to monitor those employees who were found poor. Bring an HR manager which skills would you use for monitoring ? Which technique of monitoring suits best in this case and

15. Without performance planning, organisation can't be successful according to this you are asked to design performance planning for an advertising agency.

Ganesh told Dinesh to pickup some trash that had fallen from Dinesh's work area, and Dinesh replied : "I won't do the Janitor's work". Ganesh replied "When you drop it, you pick it up". Dinesh became angry and abusive, calling Ganesh a number of names in a loud voice and refusing to pick up the trash. All employees in the department heard Dinesh's comments.

Ganesh had been trying for two weeks to get his employees to pickup trash in order to have cleaner workplace and prevent accidents. He talked to all employees in a weekly departmental meeting and to each employee individually at least once. He stated that he was following the instructions of the General Manager. The only objection came from Dinesh. Dinesh has been with the company for five years and in this department for six months. Ganesh has spoken to him twice about excessive alcoholism; but otherwise his record was good. He was known to have a quick temper. This outburst by Dinesh hurt Ganesh badly. Ganesh told Dinesh to come to the office and suspended him for one day for insubordination and abusive language to a supervisor. The decision was within company policy, and similar behaviours had been punished in other departments. After Dinesh left Ganesh's office, Ganesh phoned the HR Manager reported what he had done, and said that he was sending a copy of the suspension order for Dinesh's file.

- (1) Analyse the case. 5
- (2) How would you rate Dinesh's behaviour ? 4
- (3) What method of appraisal would you use ? Why ?

Q.2) The case 'Market expansion strategies of Maruti Udyog' examines the market expansion strategies adopted by Maruti Udyog Ltd (MUL), India's biggest carmaker, in response to intense competition & a decline in sales of its bread-and-butter model the Maruti-800. Maruti enjoyed a near monopoly status, until the Govt. of India liberalized the economy in 1991.

This led to the entry of foreign players like Hyundai, Fiat, Mitsubishi & Toyota. Even Indian auto players like Tata motors & Mahindra & Mahindra entered the fray to give MUL tough challenges. MUL began to introduce new models & upgrade its existing models in response to market demand. For instance, the company introduced hatchback 'swift' to shed its image of being manufacturer of low cost staid cars. The case study looks into how MUL came back from the crunch to retain its place as the top carmaker in India. MUL in its quest for market dominance & examines how the company was able to mould itself according to the market requirements by entering new domains & reaching out to potential customers through its 'True Value' & other promotional offers.

- a) Analyze the case
- b) Explain how promotional offers could help MUL in expanding the market & overcoming competition.

Event Title: Digital Poster Presentation Topic : Divide and Rule Policy

Date: 17/7/2021

Venue: P.G. Department of Computer Applications. (online mode)

Name of Co-ordinator : Prof.V.A.Sinha ,Prof. D.R.Bandabuche

Rules & Regulation

Posters are a key component of communicating your science and an important element in a successful scientific career.

Rule 1: Define the Purpose

The purpose will vary depending on the status and nature of the work being presented, as well as the intent.

Rule 2: Sell Your Work in Ten Seconds

Some conferences will present hundreds of posters; you will need to fight for attention.

Rule 3: The Title Is Important

The title is a good way to sell your work. It may be the only thing the conference attendee sees before they reach your poster.

Rule 4: Poster Acceptance Means Nothing

Do not take the acceptance of a poster as an endorsement of your work. Conferences need attendees to be financially viable.

Rule 5: Many of the Rules for Writing a Good Paper Apply to Posters, Too

Identify your audience and provide the appropriate scope and depth of content.

Rule 6: Good Posters Have Unique Features Not Pertinent to Papers

The amount of material presented in a paper far outweighs what is presented on a poster.

Rule 7: Layout and Format Are Critical

Guide the reader with arrows, numbering, or whatever else makes sense in getting them to move from one logical step to another.

Rule 8: Content Is Important, but Keep It Concise

Everything on the poster should help convey the message. The text must conform to the norms of sound scientific reporting: clarity, precision of expression, and economy of words.

Rule 9: Posters Should Have Your Personality

A poster is a different medium from a paper, which is conventionally dry and impersonal.

Rule 10: The Impact of a Poster Happens Both During and After the Poster Session

When the considerable effort of making a poster is done, do not blow it on presentation day by failing to have the poster achieve maximum impact.

A report on Extra Curricular Activity – Group Discussion Conducted by Prof. V. A. Sinha and Prof. D.R. Bandbuche (Assistant Professors, PGDCA, PRMITR Badnera)

"Group Discussion", popularly labeled as GD, is a popular methodology used by many organizations (company, institute, business school, etc.) these days to gauge whether the candidate has certain personality traits such as interpersonal communication skills, confidence in public speaking, team spirit, leadership abilities, social behaviour and problem-solving skills. GDs form an important part of the short-listing process for recruitment or admission in a company or institution.

Initially GD rules and regulation were explained to students. Furthermore topic was given to students regarding recent hot topics, which are popular now a days as (topic – Arrange marriage or Love marriage). Student take keen interest in explaining their points effectively in front of others.

The whole activity was judged on basis of student's skill of presentation, points that they covered, their language fluency and spirit of supporting others to talk.

A report on Extra Curricular Activity – Quescussion Conducted by Prof. V. A. Sinha and Prof. D.R. Bandbuche (Assistant Professors, PGDCA, PRMITR Badnera)

“Quescussion” is a strategy invented by Paul Bidwell in the University of Saskatchewan English Department. The Quescussion strategy represents a shift from making statements to starting to wonder and ask questions. The participants make points as in a normal discussion, but the use of statements is forbidden. It can be an effective way of generating discussion and learning in topic areas that are controversial, traditionally difficult and where students are reluctant to ask questions.

By getting students to ask questions, we are inviting them to generate a variety of thoughts about the topic without requiring them to directly state their own views. Additionally, with each question students will likely think of answers to the proposed question.

In terms of formative assessment, the quality of questions asked by students enables us to gauge the level of understanding on a specific topic.

The whole activity was judged on basis of student’s skill of questioning, points that they want to clarify , their language fluency and spirit of supporting others to present their thought.

Secure Reversible Image Steganography Over Encrypted Domain Using Public Key

Saeed Shakerian, Dr. C. N. Dedeoğlu

Abstract—Hiding information in image is one of the most used method for digital image. Image pixels in cover image are processed randomly in the algorithm. This information is hidden in reversible data hiding technique. Many reversible data hiding schemes have been proposed and successfully applied in military applications. Such schemes are designed to conceal digital images, documents and images without any distortion of the original images. They guarantee that cover image and stego-image are identical. They guarantee that cover image and stego-image are identical. In this research, an algorithm is proposed to generate a key that can be encrypted plaintext message in a reversible manner. The proposed work explains only LSB insertion for image steganography. Some ideas for adapting frequency domain, wavelet domain and wavelet transform for the security of the signal. Comparison with the state-of-the-art methods, the proposed approach provides higher embedding capacity and can perfectly reconstruct the original image as well as the embedded message. Extensive experimental results are provided to indicate the superior performance of our scheme.

Keywords—Data Hiding, Steganography, Reversible Data Hiding, Image Processing, Linear Arithmetic, Invertible Message

1. Introduction

Picture data is transmitted while converting it to waveform if a distortion has been on people's minds. Since the dawn of time, leading to the development of very basic to extremely specific computer-based approaches. Around the last few to five decades, there has been a massive exchange of data all over the world. The internet and the computer network's remarkable growth speeded and simplified a plethora of E-Commerce apps. This leads to massive loss of data security and any potential losses resulting from the loss of information. Individual communication becomes more expensive as always confidentiality becomes a critical issue. This is a requirement for data transfer to succeed in confidential form.

In multimedia communication, privacy and anonymity become even more important, especially when computer networks like the Internet are open and vulnerable. In today's world of worldwide connectivity, sensitive business, copyright, financial, communication, digital, bank, and otherwise, trust is critical to protect the information from being lost or being leaked. Cryptography is the data that deals with the process of encoded writing in which original information is encoded into an indistinguishable form that can be decoded by an adversary, whereas steganography hides the secret information in other media and that can be seen. The data is often hidden in the least significant bits of the carrier's media but a steganographically hidden message is ignored.

Cryptography, Steganography, and Watermarking are three well-researched techniques that have been discovered in the literature. Cryptography is a different branch from steganography and watermarking, which both deal with the data in the domain of communication and cryptography respectively.

The possible cover carriers in steganography are communication channels that will carry the hidden information images, audio, video, text, or some other digital or analogized codes. The information hidden is called a message, and it can be plaintext, ciphertext, pictures, or anything else that can be encoded in a bitstream. A signature is none of the cover carrier and the embedded message. Hiding data into cover messages for use of a key, which is additional secret data, such as a password, required for unembedding the data. A possible domain of the process may be represented as:

Cover medium + embedded message + key key = stego-medium

Abstract—Driving assistance systems (DAS) are responsible for enhancing the on-road driver experience in terms of lane safety, speed monitoring, detection detection, vehicle-to-vehicle communication for truck or platoons. Each of these systems require large amounts of input/output data that is processed via machine learning algorithms. For instance, lane safety systems use a combination of linear and depth data to evaluate whether vehicles are following lane rules or not. For this analysis, algorithms like convolutional neural networks (CNN), support vector machines (SVM), and so on, are used. Each of these input-output combinations has different advantages and issues for each application. Thus, it is very difficult for system designers to identify best practices to evaluate and select these algorithms. In order to simplify selection of these algorithms for given systems, this paper evaluates different recently proposed & highly efficient systems for each of these applications. This will assist researchers and system designers to select application-specific paths for applying highly efficient and customized driving assistance systems. The text also suggests further optimizations that can be done for these algorithms to further improve their performance when deployed in real or existing systems.

Index Terms—Driving assistance system, machine learning, data speed, control.

1. Introduction

The Internet of Things (IoT) is a self-organizing and adaptive system consisting of networks of sensors and smart objects whose purpose is to enhancement of things, including smart city and industrial systems. It can help us to make them intelligent, programable and able capable of interacting with humans. The Internet of Things research for smart computing systems [1] focuses on computing and communication in include computing, i.e., the physical devices [2].

Industrial Internet (II) uses sensors, software, mobile-to-mobile collaboration and network capabilities to gather and analyze data from physical and virtual world for optimized operations and providing services in the manufacturing, energy, health, and business environments. The economic application of manufacturing and the connectivity capable becoming available to embedded systems are important to the industrial Internet. The research

ABSTRACT

Internet of Things (IoT) allows massive number of sensors and devices "talk" to each other with each other and transfer data over network network of computers, network protocols. This article proposes a new concept, which includes the use of industrial environment to enable and allow things to talk using smart objects guided by internet and II. This article will take images of environment and apply low level image processing techniques. The images are then processed and transferred to central system by II. In case of fire, smart and temperature rise when fire starts, the vehicle will raise alarm. The smart information will be reported to central system. Smart cameras, sensors as well as physical industrial system is developed using python graphical interface. Simulation errors and errors in industrial areas will communicate with each other using internet. By this data we can predict the path to vehicle. The new leveling path will be done in this type of physical industrial system. This concept will be explained with the help of processing vehicle.

Abstract

In modern age, Content Based Image Retrieval system is used for retrieving the images from web pages. In order to retrieve an image, there visual features such as, edge, hue, color, texture and shape. Image retrieval system is used to search images from database that its content fully same as that of query image. The substantial method that help in the retrieval of images from a large database is the Content Based Image Retrieval (CBIR) with SVM. In proposed scheme, CBIR approach along with Support Vector Machine algorithm is used for retrieval. Proposed method has been provided higher accuracy with the help of SVM classifier.

1. INTRODUCTION

An image retrieval system is a computer system used for browsing, searching and retrieving images from a large database of digital images. Content Based Image Retrieval (CBIR) system helps to get relevant images with higher accuracy. CBIR will be provided to assist in search engines, image retrieval systems. In CBIR implemented search is fast instead of text-based search. Image retrieval systems need to search through a database to find images that are similar to a query image. Most proposed CBIR techniques [1, 2] automatically extracted features of feature feature color, texture and shape to describe the similarity between images by comparing the feature differences. Color, texture and shape features have been used to describing image content. Colors of query image or user or images have to be find, image retrieval systems tend to search through a database. Color histograms, color co-occurrence as conventional color features are used in CBIR. To represent color in terms of primary colors, a color space is defined as a model. Texture is a key part of human visual perception. Everyone use identity texture, but it is never explained to define. Unlike color, rather than a pixel texture across even a region, it is usually perceived by adjacency levels. Conversely, the shape features are different from other discriminatory visual features such as texture or color features and the shape features necessary information. Unusually, shape features can be classified as region-based and boundary-based. Implementations of CBIR system which is based on domain color, shape and texture.

This method [1] yielded average recall with reduced feature vector dimension and higher storage precision. An effective color image retrieval scheme for combining of the domain texture, shape and color information, which achieved higher retrieval efficiency is presented in [2]. By using fast color quantization scheme, feature extraction, the image is processed, and then a small number of dominant colors and their percentage can be extracted. Threshold image method (TID) system is proposed in [3] to deal with the massive number of trademark images.

Facial Emotion Detection of children Using Machine Learning

Ms. Madhavi V. Ajmal, Prof. V. R. Sankar, Dr. S. R. Subramanian

Abstract: Facial Emotion Detection is a technique for detecting human emotion through facial expressions. Machine Learning (ML) is a subfield of artificial intelligence with a wide range of applications. Machine learning models are trained on a large dataset of images to learn the relationship between facial expressions and emotions. The goal of this paper is to detect children's facial expressions using ML and identify positive and negative emotions. This paper presents a novel approach for recognizing facial expressions in photographs with machine learning algorithms. In this work, 1000 images from three independent facial expression datasets (FER2013, FER2011, and FER2010) are used. The proposed method uses a deep neural network (DNN) for feature extraction and classification. The results show that the proposed method achieves a high accuracy of 85% in detecting facial expressions. The proposed method is compared with other state-of-the-art methods and achieves a high accuracy of 85%.

You simply have to choose the scheme that suits your investment horizon and risk tolerance.

A voluntary defined contribution Plan wherein you will have an option to enroll and choose your Pension Service Provider (PSP) within 30 days from the date of joining the company.

We currently have tie-ups with two leading PSPs to manage the superannuation funds. LIC & ICICI offer a superannuation scheme which offers interest on accumulated balance every year. ICICI Prudential also has an Unit Linked Superannuation scheme which offers you a market linked return, range of fund options to suit your risk appetite & transparent fund management.

The enrollment option can be exercised only once in the service with the organization and cannot be reversed once made. VSS enrollment window period will, also, be available once every financial year. The Company, on behalf of the member employee, shall contribute 15% of basic salary, towards the scheme selected by the member. In case 15% of basic exceeds Rs.1,50,000 per annum, member employee will have an option to restrict the contribution to Rs.1,50,000 per annum to avoid perquisite tax (perquisite tax is applicable on contributions exceeding Rs.1,50,000 every year).

For further clarity, please refer the Policy on My Wipro -> My Information Sources > India -> My Financials-> Deferred Benefits-> Voluntary Superannuation Scheme.
